

NEWS OF ALEXANDRIA

Jury Selected to Try James Dorsey for Murder.

PANELS CONTAINED 180 MEN

Amid Scenes of Gayety and Floral Decoration the Pupils of St. Mary's Academy Close School Year—Arlington Development and Investment Company Incorporated.

Alexandria News Agency, 125 South Royal street, Alexandria, Va., authorized agent and carrier for the Washington Herald. The Herald will be delivered daily and Sunday to any address in Alexandria for 50 cents a month.

WASHINGTON HERALD BUREAU,
125 South Royal Street.

Alexandria, Va., June 11.—After examining 180 talesmen, which required exactly five hours, a jury was obtained at 4:05 o'clock this afternoon for the trial of James Dorsey, the third of the four negroes charged with the murder of Walter F. Schultz, the Chicago artist. The last man chosen was E. Hyland Brawner, who made the sixteenth juror.

Following the selection of the jury, Judge Barley dismissed the jurors until 9 o'clock to-morrow morning. When court reconvenes the first thing to be done will be the striking off of four jurors, to be replaced by the twelve. The taking of testimony by the State will then be begun. The case will probably go to the jury by Tuesday evening.

During the examination of the talesmen, who will decide whether he shall live or die, James Dorsey appeared entirely indifferent, and at intervals smoked cigarettes and talked to the policemen who had charge of him. He appeared to be the least concerned man in the court room. Perhaps never before in the history of the city has such a large number of talesmen been examined for a jury. The original panel consisted of 185. About 100 of this number responded, the others having furnished satisfactory reasons to the court for their nonattendance. The examination was begun at 10 o'clock, and about noon this panel was exhausted, with nine in the box.

Judge Barley at once deplored the city sergeant to summon all whom he could. As a result, Sergt. Cox, Deputy Sergt. B. Smith, and Bailiff T. A. Fisher were sent scurrying in all directions in search of talesmen, and they went out into the highways and byways in order to get jurors. Panel after panel of talesmen was exhausted, and for a time it looked as though it would be impossible to get a jury in the city. The court attaches, however, continued their work until the required number was obtained.

Most of those rejected had formed a fixed opinion, which could not be changed by any additional evidence. Several were prejudiced against the prisoner, a few were prejudiced in favor of him, and several took the benefit of exemption by reason of the age limit.

The sixteen selected are as follows: George W. Bontz, Jr., Mitchell Watkins, W. S. Harper, Moses Jafa, Thomas Chancy, Harvey L. Pous, John McCuen, Edmund C. Bell, Samuel C. Boush, John T. Haring, Charles W. Travers, James Chancy, Clarence Westcott, D. L. Spinks, J. A. Delaney, and E. Hyland Brawner.

Before a large audience at the opera house this afternoon St. Mary's Academy, conducted by the Sisters of the Holy Cross, held its forty-first annual commencement. An interesting musical and literary programme was given, in which the 250 scholars attending that institution participated. The various numbers were heartily applauded. At the conclusion of the exercises Rev. Father H. J. Cutler delivered an address to the eleven graduates. This was followed by the announcement of medals and diplomas by Rev. Father L. F. Kelly, who were conferred by Rev. Father Cutler. Many of the students and all of the graduates were the recipients of flowers.

The five graduates in the academic course were Misses Margaret Ernestine Daly, of Phoenix, Va.; Ida Camana Crilly, Helen Marian Corbet, Marie Agnes Greene, and Lola Fitz Hugh Ashton, of this city. The six graduates in the commercial department were Misses Agnes Josephine Graumann, Rose Mary Lash, of Alexandria; Mary Kavanaugh, of Staunton, Va.; Alma Maria Deslo, of Washington; Esther Kuhn, and Nettie Lee Studts, of Alexandria.

Medals were awarded as follows: Katharine Daly, Christian doctrine; Nina Brady, deportment in the intermediate department; Katherine Brill, attendance in the senior department; James Bayne, attendance in the junior department; Alma Deslo, improvement in violin; Ruth Gerlach, B. Burrill, H. Fairfax, and M. Murphy, certificates in geography and typewriting; A. Deslo, A. Graumann, R. Lash, and M. Murphy, certificates in the Palmer method of penmanship; M. Daly, M. Kavanaugh, M. Hellmuth, C. Alexander, and A. Barley, prizes for scholarship.

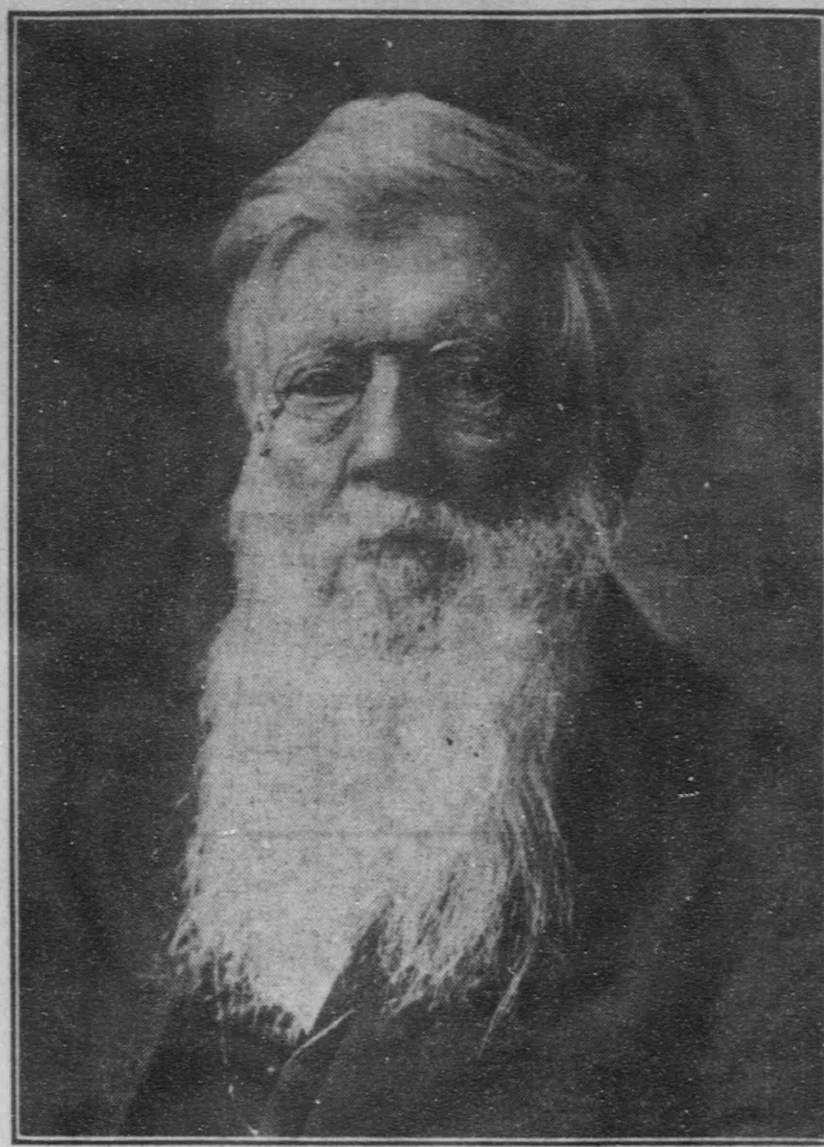

Enthusiastic because she had been acquitted of a charge of being drunk on a steamer of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company, Florence Bobbitt this morning, as she started out of the Police Court room, tossed a $1 bill on the desk of Police Justice Caton and

"Homes of a Hundred Ideas"

THE WASHINGTON HERALD has purchased of Middaugh & Shannon one of their "Homes of a Hundred Ideas," the particular Home being located at 24 Bryant street northwest, two blocks north of W street, undoubtedly the most desirable location in the entire city of Washington. Every one is urged to visit this beautiful Home, as to see it is to learn what a really modern home should look like. It is a marvel of beauty from basement to top floor, and contains eight rooms and a bath. More may be learned of it, however, by seeing it for yourself. We should like to have a letter from you, telling us your honest opinion of it.

Address
THE CONTEST DEPT.,
The Washington Herald,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

OLDEST INHABITANTS—No. 11.

JAMES CROGON.

Mr. Crogon is one of the oldest and one of the best known of the Oldest Inhabitants' Association of the District of Columbia.

He was born in this city at what is known now as 13 F street and grew to manhood at Twelfth and L streets.

His father was H. B. Crogon, for nearly forty years an employee of the Treasury Department, and his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Crogon, one of the Rawlings family of Maryland.

Mr. Crogon obtained his early schooling in the public schools under Henshaw and Kelly, in the building located at that time on the corner of Fourteenth and G streets, and finished at Union College, presided over by Z. and A. C. Richards.

He served as messenger in the United States Treasury's office; as clerk in the grocery store of B. W. Reed, and in early manhood became a reporter on the Republican. He went to the Evening Star in 1862 and remained on that paper until 1884, acting in the several capacities of court and police reporter and reporting religious meetings, prize fights, and hangings. Mr. Crogon resides with his wife and four grown children in Severn, Anne Arundel County, Md. In recent years he has been engaged in writing local, historical, and other matter for the Evening Star.

—Photo by H. B. Edmonston.

MANN GAINING IN SOUTH SIDE

Tucker Strong in Opponent's Home District.

Lexington Candidate's Attacks Upon Judge Mann Do Not Add to Former's Strength.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Emporia, Va., June 11.—The gubernatorial race in Lunenburg, Mecklenburg, Brunswick, Greensville, Sussex, Surry, Southampton, and Dinwiddie counties is waxing warmer every day.

Judge William Hodges Mann is considered the Southside Virginia candidate, which embraces this section, his home being in Nottoway County, while his opponent, Harry St. George Tucker, is regarded a Western Virginia or Valley candidate, his home being in Rockbridge County.

At this stage of the contest Mr. Tucker's strength in Southside Virginia is as great, probably greater, than Judge Mann's, the fight progresses the latter is gaining considerable strength.

Indicating that his friends are getting down to hard work.

Judge Mann is not regarded throughout the Southside as the "machine" candidate, although he has been charged time and again with being the candidate of the Democratic State organization.

The severe attack upon Judge Mann by his opponent during the Boynton court debate and at Buckingham Court House and other points has been in the nature of a boomerang to Tucker in this section.

Judge Mann has added to his strength in this section also by refusing to attack Mr. Tucker. Many people believe here that this kind of a campaign is "mud-slinging," and Judge Mann in refusing to adopt such tactics has benefited thereby, in the opinion of many. Judge Mann has given Mr. Tucker several severe drubbings, but it is regarded here that he did so under provocation.

It is not believed here that the Republicans will cut much of a figure in the final election in November.

The race for attorney general between Judge Sam Williams and Col. Robert Catlett is attracting much attention in this section. Judge Williams' strength in this section is pronounced. Col. Catlett is not so favorably known.

The race for the legislature in Greensville and Sussex counties is a highly interesting one, there being six aspirants in the field who desire to represent these counties. They are Leonidas D. Yarrall, of Emporia, and W. H. Purdy, of Greensville County; R. F. Moss, J. A. Baugh, M. G. Mason, and J. B. Pearson, of Sussex County.

HAIL AS LARGE AS EGGS.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Roanoke, Va., June 11.—One of the worst hailstorms in the history of Montgomery County swept over the Shawsville section last evening. The storm approached from the West. Hail fell as large as hen eggs, and in some cases rolled down embankments into piles several feet deep.

The wind was terrific, while the rainfall is said to have been like water pouring over a dam. Small branches washed away and small trees were blown over. The hail was so heavy that it was reported lost, but many fled from their houses in water waist deep.

Among the buildings washed away was the colored people's hall at Shawsville. Many barns were also washed away. The tomato crop in that section is almost entirely destroyed, and the canneries are endeavoring to cancel their orders for thousands of dollars' worth of cans.

VETERAN SHOT.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Giles County Confederate Is Killed by Old Enemy.

Roanoke, Va., June 11.—News reached here to-day from Pearisburg of the killing near that place yesterday of A. J. Thompson, a Confederate veteran, of Giles County, by Jacob L. Carper.

Thompson, accompanied by his son, was walking on the highway when they met Carper. The latter opened fire, killing Thompson instantly. Carper was arrested and lodged in jail at Pearisburg. The two men have long been enemies.

Tobe Stafford, a brakeman on the Norfolk and Western Railway, was caught between a train of cars and a coal chute at Pearisburg last night and killed.

RICHARD C. BYRD DEAD.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Norfolk, Va., June 11.—Richard C. Byrd, Jr., of Byrd & Baldwin Bros., prominent real estate operators, died to-day, aged forty-five years. He came to Norfolk from Gloucester County twenty-five years ago, and was a descendant of Col. Richard Evelyn Byrd, of colonial fame. Surviving him are a wife and son and his parents, who are still living in Gloucester County.

First Mann Club Organized.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Suffolk, Va., June 11.—A Mann campaign club, the first organization to be perfected, was started here to-night with fifty-two members. Former Mayor R. L. Brewer, Jr., is president, with Horace J. Bowen as secretary. A Tucker club will be organized next Thursday. His local managers says Judge Mann will be challenged for a joint debate. The gubernatorial fight, previously obscured by the legislative contest, is showing signs of life.

SHOCKED BY LIGHTNING.

Girl Rendered Unconscious While at Lawn Party.

Special to The Washington Herald.

Lynchburg, Va., June 11.—Miss Hattie Patterson, while attending a lawn party last night in South Lynchburg, was struck by lightning while in Fair View High School building. The bolt rendered her unconscious and she did not recover until late to-day. It is believed she was all near-by creeks out of their banks, and damaging trucking.

A rain amounting to almost a cloudburst swept over Lynchburg to-day, deluging the city, overflowing sewers, putting all near-by creeks out of their banks, and damaging trucking.

REAL ESTATE NOTES

E. K. Lundy & Co. have sold the property at 31 V street northwest to James E. Thomas for $3,500. The purchaser will occupy it as his home. The property sold is one of a row of six houses created in V street by Lundy & Co., several of which have been sold. A coincidence in the sale of these properties is that the purchasers of 31 and 7 have the same names, though they are not related in any way, and neither was known by the other until they became neighbors.

Stone & Fairfax recently sold for W. W. Stewart the three-story and cellar brick dwelling at 2108 H street northwest, which the purchaser will occupy as a home. It contains eight rooms, and is heated by furnace. It has been recently remodeled. The convenience of location to the department buildings justifies the strong demand existing for property in that direction. The same firm has sold for M. W. Sherman the two-story dwelling at 664 G street northeast, which the purchaser will hold as an investment. The house is of brick construction with stone trimmings. It is planned with the parlor, reception hall, dining-room, pantry, and kitchen on the first floor. The property has a frontage of 18 feet with a depth of 100 feet to public alley. It was erected several years ago by David B. Gottwald, who built many houses in that vicinity.

Harry Wardman has purchased from Mrs. Margaret Lane and Mrs. Ellen Daley lots 316 and 317, square 233, Holmead Manor, on the east side of Holmead place, between Otis place and Spring road. The lots have a combined frontage of 50 feet by a depth of 12 1/2 feet to a 20-foot alley. It is the purpose of Mr. Wardman to improve the property with moderate-priced dwellings. It is understood that $3,500 was paid for the ground. The sale was made by Wallace Gibbs & Daniel, in conjunction with Bell, O'Brien & Co.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

Surmen Elect Officers.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

At the annual election of officers of the Surmen's Mutual Benefit Association in the auditorium of Masonic Temple yesterday the following result was announced: Arthur Dominy, Bay Shore, Long Island, president; George W. Bowley, Provincetown, Mass., first vice president; Nelson Holmes, keeper of the Cape Henry Station, Virginia, second vice president, and John T. Wescott, keeper of Poyner Hill Station, North Carolina, secretary-treasurer. The next convention will be held at Newport, Rhode Island, in June, 1910.

PRIZE DEBATE HELD

Capital Punishment Argued by Enosinians.

MODERN CRIMINAL ANALYZED

Affirmative, Favoring Life Imprisonment as Murder Penalty, Wins Out from Opponents, and E. A. Schreiber, '10, is Awarded First Prize as Debater with J. W. Berry Second.

The protagonists of life imprisonment upon that most traditional of subjects for youthful argumentation, "Resolved, That capital punishment should be abolished," was an easy victory in the prize debate of the Enosinian Society of George Washington University last evening.

The modern criminal was raked fore and aft by the collegians, and carefully dissected from all points of view. The negative debaters, who upheld the system of ages, made their stand upon the Scriptural declaration, "Whosoever sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed," and re-enforced this divine injunction by arguments, psychological, statistical, and sociological.

Not Strong Deterrent.

Norris Bowen, '11, opened for the affirmative, and trained his guns upon an antiquated system which legalized murder by the state, and which had not fully justified itself as a deterrent measure. He showed that fluctuations in murderous outbreaks were not measured by the severity of the penalty, because crime was far more frequent centuries ago than now under a horrible code of punishment. Those modern nations and states which have abolished capital sentence have not experienced an increase in the crime of murder; the tendency is markedly the other way, he said.

James W. Berry, '09, made effective reply to his opponent, quoted figures and opinions of eminent criminologists, and ridiculed the notion that any state could be guilty of "murder" by inflicting the death penalty.

"Edmund Burke said no man could draw up an indictment against an opinion of eminent criminologists, and it is preposterous to use the term murder in connection with capital punishment. Murder must be committed in cold blood and with malice aforethought. The state, to protect itself against the lawless individual, invokes the law of God. This is called murder. If it be such, the more we have of it the better.

"It is a mistake to judge capital punishment from the standpoint of the criminal. It must be taken as a protective measure by society. The history of the past centuries shows that it is not only advisable, but necessary."

Ernest A. Schreiber, '10, closed the affirmative argument. He quoted exhaustively from statistical criminologists, and was less in those countries which have adopted life imprisonment as the maximum penalty for murder than in others.